The Ocean Detective Series - The Case of the Outlaw Dolphins

Jeffrey Polovina

Alexis is an Ocean Detective Agent. One day, Miguel, a fisherman, asks her to solve the problem he has. Some dolphins steal the fish off from his hooks. But curiously they do not eat and just play with them. What are the dolphins doing and why? Alexis dive into the sea to find out. Can she solve this mystery? Susan Scott, Marine biologist, wrote in Ocean Watch, Honolulu Star-Advertiser, May 14, 2012 ...I recently bought childrens books by Hawaii's National Marine Fisheries Service scientist Jeff Polovina. I havent met Jeff, but I know his name from some of his 115 research papers, and the awards they garnered, in his 30-plus years of studying the Pacific Ocean. Jeff recently branched out from his groundbreaking research to write a couple of stories for budding marine scientists in the form of Alexis, an Ocean Detective Agent. The childrens e-book series piqued my interest because I didnt know the answer to one of Jeffs mysteries and had to buy the nicely illustrated book.
